

Judith Ann Gorewitz

October 8, 1945 - September 17, 2018

Judith Ann Gorewitz passed away September 17, 2018, surrounded by her loved ones. She is survived by her devoted husband of 53 years, Don Gorewitz; children, Marc Gorewitz, Lisa Brill, and Josh Gorewitz; grandchildren, Sydney Gorewitz, Whitney Gorewitz, Sarah Brill, Daniel Brill, Jordan Gorewitz, and Ariel Gorewitz; sisters, Barbara Suson, Pearl Neiman, and Francine Landow; son-in-law, Sam Brill; and daughter-in-laws, Lori Gorewitz and Erica Hakimi. Judy was preceded in death by her parents, Ethel and Louis Landow and brother, Sol Landow.

Judy was born on October 8, 1945 in Denver, Colorado. Judy was a very loving and caring person, endeared by many. With her love of children, she worked in the education field for the majority of her life. Judy had deep friendships, spanning across the country, that lasted for her entire life. Friends and family were her life, and she thrived on being around them. Judy will be remembered for her kind heart, gentle nature, and determined spirit.

Judy dedicated her life to her family. She took tremendous joy in attending her children's and grandchildren's activities, caring for her husband, and volunteering for the Houston Area Parkinson Society and the Dr. Marnie Rose Foundation.

The family wants to thank Colonial Oaks Sugarland and Elysian Hospice for their care of Judy, as well as the Dr. Marnie Rose Foundation and MD Anderson Cancer Center, which are working tirelessly on treating brain cancer and finding a cure.

Donations in memory of Judy may be sent to the Dr. Marnie Rose Foundation at <http://drmarnierose.org>.

Thank you for sending it to me...

It describes her perfectly...

We will all miss her...
