

Marc Evan Blumfield

December 26, 1960 - April 8, 2018

Marc Evan Blumfield 57, died on April 8th 2018. The cause of death is not known at this time.

He is survived by his mother Marcia (Katz) Blumfield, his brother Dr. David L. Blumfield and wife Gena Miller, sister Helane Blumfield and husband David Josephson. His niece and nephews, Kimberly (Blumfield) Cunningham and husband Marcus Cunningham, Evan Blumfield, Joshua Blumfield and wife Jessica (Liss) Blumfield, Andrew Blumfield, Eli Blumfield, Eliana Blumfield, and Grandneice Kaylyn Cunningham.

He is preceded in death by his father Richard Blumfield, aunt Jackie (Blumfield) Weiner and husband Sonny Weiner.

He was born on Long Island New York on December 26th, 1960. He graduated from Deer Park High School in 1979. He attended community college and received an associate degree in English. This started a life long love affair with reading and writing. He has written many short stories and novels over his lifetime. He also played the saxophone in high school and always listened to music. He collected over 5000 catalogued songs on his phone.

His career was in transportation first as a taxi and limo driver and eventually at

M.D. Anderson where he drove for the employees and often board members.

He arrived in Houston in 1988 from New York. He enjoyed and loved his adopted city. He worked until his back problems prevented him from sitting long enough to drive. He loved his nieces and nephew's and enjoyed the time he was able to spend with them.

May he rest in peace.

In lieu of flowers, please make donations to M.D.Anderson.

Special thanks to Dr. Ken Lee and Dr. Arush Keyhani for their care and compassion.
